[illegible] Storrs and the Advisory Council

NEW YORK, March 4.—Rev. R. S. Storrs, when [illegible] about resigning his position as president of [the] American Congregational Union and his [illegible] in the Congregational Home Missionary [illegible], declined to say whether he intended to [illegible] from the fellowship of Beecher's circle [illegible] or not. I desire at present, he [said], "to say no more than that the statement [of my] resignation is true. As to the interpretation [of] my action, making it appear I was led to it [by the] action of the Council and that I am in [illegible] against the Congregational church, I will [not] speak, but resign. I felt dissatisfied with [the] action and thought it best to withdraw from [it]; that is all."

Movements of Caleb P. Marsh

Caleb P. Marsh is said to have left the city yes[terday] with a ticket for Montreal in his hat, but at Peekskill he suddenly left the train.

A Child held to Bail.

[illegible], March 4.—Spencer Decker, 12 years old, [is held] in $5000 bail, charged with causing the [death] of Charles H. Prosey, a playmate 9 years old.

Destructive Fire.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—The extensive dry goods house of Wood, Marsh & Co., on Market street, was destroyed by fire this morning. The fire broke out about 3 A. M., in a small two story [illegible] and is supposed to have originated [illegible]. A brisk breeze prevailing fanned the flames, so that when the firemen arrived the flames had made considerable headway. The building [No.] 307, occupied by Garretson, Blackmore & Co., dealers in prints, was badly damaged. In a [illegible] the interior was pretty well deluged [illegible] No. 331, Market street, occupied by R. [illegible] Bros., and Dobins & Co., dealers in [illegible], are likewise damaged in the rear [illegible] suffered by water. About 5 A. M. the north wall of No. 331 fell, causing [illegible] to fall. The store in 301 Market [illegible] by S. V. Cassidy, dealer in silks, [illegible] water and smoke. It was deluged before the flames were mastered. The loss is placed at [illegible]. Hugh McClintock, assistant engineer, [illegible] McKay were severely injured by stepping off the roof of a back building, and falling in the area below. Wood, Marsh & Co. lost in stock [illegible]; insured for $195,000. The buildings were owned by Richard Wood, of the firm of Wood, Marsh & Co., and Mr. Martin. The loss on the [illegible] is not known as yet. The adjoining [illegible] were considerably damaged by the falling walls. The aggregate loss is about $400,000. Wood, Marsh & Co. and Mr. Martin are the chief losers. The insurance on the buildings fully covers [illegible]. The policies are mostly in English and [illegible].

The Records of Two Thieves.

CHICAGO, March 4.—The part which George T. [illegible], of Baltimore, and George A. Armes have [taken] in Belknap's disgrace has led to an examination of the army records, which show that both [lost] their places through their own scandalous practices, upon charges by superior officers and after [illegible] court trial, and not through the instrumentality of the late Secretary of War. Robinson [illegible] in the 10th cavalry, and was arraigned [before a] courtmartial at St. Louis, October 1871, on a charge of fraud against the government, which fraud consisted in drawing his pay [illegible] for the same month. The full proceedings of the court show a series of frauds, extending over two years of time, practiced not only on the government at New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Galveston and other points, but for false charges for [illegible] and medical practice. Robinson also did not hesitate each time he drew his pay to commit perjury. The court found him guilty and passed this sentence: Does therefore sentence Capt. George T. Robinson to be cashiered, to forfeit to the United States all pay and allowances now due or to become due, and to have his crime, name, place of abode and punishment published in and about Philadelphia and St. Louis. George A. Armes was also captain in the 10th cavalry, and was tried before a [illegible] at Leavenworth, March 12, 1870, and [illegible] the service by command of [illegible] Sherman.

With reference to the dispatch of March 4th, associating Capt. Geo. A. Armes with Capt. Geo. T. Robinson in [illegible] practices while officers in the army, Capt. [illegible]. Although they belonged to the same [illegible] they were neither friends or [illegible] from official documents that [illegible] was tried and dismissed from service on false [illegible] against him by two officers against [whom] Armes had [illegible] preferred charges, and which they were tried and within two months [were] found guilty and imprisoned in the penitentiary for three years, and fined $500 each. [illegible] committees of each House, in February, [illegible] report on the bill authorizing and [illegible] of War to give to Armes an [illegible], say there was nothing in the [illegible] the sentence that was imposed by [illegible] that the charges were preferred [through] jealousy and revenge, and the [illegible] that there was a determination [illegible] officers who instigated the prosecution [illegible] Armes dismissed at any cost. The [illegible] above made became a law, [illegible] was honorably discharged, with [illegible] pay. A letter is on file in the War [illegible] by Capt. George T. Robinson [illegible] Secretary Belknap on the 2d of [illegible], the finding of the courtmartial [illegible] case and its recommendation [illegible] account of his selling duplicated [illegible], were pending before the department. [illegible] letter, Robinson wrote that he had [illegible] & Co., post traders at Fort Sill [illegible] pay money for Gen. Belknap's [illegible] that he was at that time April 2, 1875 [illegible] charges against them for malicious slan[der] [illegible] of War. He continued, "I hope [illegible] that these slanders on your name and [illegible] false, and I shall bring the firm to speedy [illegible] I am in or out of the army. I shall [illegible] all the documents entire to [illegible] information and for such action as [illegible] to take." His letter explains that [illegible] consisted of memoranda he had [illegible] he had heard said by Evans and [illegible] of the firm. The findings of the [illegible] approved by the President and Robinson [illegible] afterwards cashiered on grounds [illegible].

Sherman Interviewed about Belknap.

[illegible], March 4.—The Tribune's St. Louis correspondent had an interview with Gen. Sherman concerning the recent startling exposures of Belknap's official delinquencies. The General said: "I was astonished beyond measure. I [illegible] Belknap a long time and never had [illegible] to doubt his integrity. I know his private record is without a blot. He has always been [illegible] as a man of scrupulous honor. Of course I know the cause of this demoralization, but [illegible] lived in Washington during his tenure of [illegible] I can form a pretty good idea of it. In my [illegible] his downfall is due more to the vicious [illegible] of Washington society than to [illegible] else. I refer to the ridiculous extravagance of those who move in the first social circles [at] the capital. Few cabinet officers are able to live [within] their salaries. While I was there the only [illegible] of the cabinet who could stand it was [illegible], with his income of 200,000 dollars a year. He [could] afford to pay most any price for social privileges. [illegible] it cost him $70,000 yearly. Mr. [illegible], who has gone into the cabinet since I [left] St. Louis, is another one whose private fortune is ample that his salary is no object to him. [illegible] these two none of the public officials in [illegible] can live within their salaries. I left [illegible] chiefly because my salary would not [illegible], and because I did not consider the [illegible] the proper place in which to rear a [illegible]. There has been a good deal of dissatisfaction about Belknap's post traders, some of those [illegible] appointed were regarded as suspicious [illegible], and their society was obnoxious to the [illegible], but the question has been taken entirely out of my hands, and I could say nothing without [interfering] with the business of the Secretary of [War]. There are more than 150 posts on the frontier [and I] expect there is a good deal of fraud yet to be [illegible]."

Number of Grain Vessels Chartered

NEW YORK, March 4.—There have been twenty [illegible] vessels chartered to load grain for European [ports] during the past week, mostly for England. [illegible] have loaded altogether 8,590 quarters [of] grain and 658,400 bushels. This quantity is [illegible] independent of that taken by regular ocean [illegible].

New Trial for McKee

ST. LOUIS, March 4.—In the matter of the motion for a new trial for Wm. McKee three depositions were filed in the U. S. court to-day. They are from [illegible] Rice, Henry P. Brown and Geo. Stimshur, and are measurably corroborative of the affidavit of Watson Foster relative to the statement [said] to have been made by Hugh F. Simmers.

Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Loans increased $1,6[illegible]; specie increase, $1,095,100; legal tenders, decrease $2,800,000; deposits, increase $2,883,000; circulation, decrease, $1,650,000; reserve decrease $[illegible].

History of the Whisky Ring Investigation

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—The Times to-day publishes a lengthy statement of what purports to be a part of the secret history of the whisky ring prosecutions here, and especially the Babcock trial. It is [stated] that Attorney General Pierrepont was very active and zealous in the prosecution until Babcock was indicted, when his ardor cooled and he began to use his influence and the power of his office to [illegible] that gentleman. With this view it is asserted that the Attorney General sent for District Attorney Dyer to come to Washington. Dyer went, and while there Pierrepont, on the plea that it was important and necessary that the head of the department of justice should know what the prosecution would be in Babcock's case, obtained by the grossest and most inexcusable hypocrisy a detailed [illegible] of all the oral testimony against Babcock, and the whole plan of the prosecution, what [illegible] intended to prove by each witness, and [the] order in which he intended to present [the] evidence. This information it [illegible] Pierrepont made over for the use of Babcock's counsel in order to defeat the prosecution, and this, too, with the President's knowledge and consent. Storrs, senior counsel for Babcock, remained in Washington, and whatever Pierrepont obtained from Dyer in regard to the case he first [imparted] to the President, and after consultation with him Storrs got the benefit of all he learned. The Attorney General's private office was the place where the plans for the defeat of the government in its case against Babcock were matured. The very night preceding the time set for Babcock's trial Babcock and Porter met Pierrepont in his office and closely studied every point contained in the evidence for the government and prepared to overcome it. Babcock was admitted to the conferences between the President and Pierrepont. When the plan was first arranged and whenever Dyer sent any additional evidence to Washington Storrs was sent for and when the plan for the prosecution was fully matured he was as familiar with it as the Attorney General himself. Those familiar with all the circumstances absolve Colonel Dyer from all censure. Dyer had reposed implicit confidence in the integrity of Pierrepont and had been deceived. Dyer could not be made to believe that one of the chief officers of the government would violate his oath of office and disregard his duty; hence he accepted Pierrepont's pretended interest in the vigorous prosecution as sincere, and even relied upon him as his superior officer for aid and counsel. It is then asserted that while Pierrepont was on the outside earnest in the prosecution of the whisky ring, believing it would redound to his credit as the chief officer of the government, he soon found he was overshadowed by Bristow, the people and prosecuting officers giving that gentleman credit for every blow struck against the ring. This filled Pierrepont with envy; he became jealous of Bristow's popularity, and joined heart and soul with the Grant faction and Bristow combination. This gave him the first hold on the regard of the President and enabled him to aid in defeating Bristow's plans and thus weakening Bristow among the people and with the whole administration. So he had a double purpose in joining in the move to save Babcock from conviction; he would establish his position with Grant for the present and future and weaken Bristow by making it appear that the indictment of Babcock was a scheme to injure Grant and advance Bristow's political interests. As to why Solicitor Wilson did not warn Dyer of Pierrepont's plan to defeat the prosecution it is explained as coming from Wilson himself that Wilson had already been represented as scheming against the President and Babcock. Every act he had performed in the furtherance of his duty was distorted and borne to Grant's ears as part of Bristow's plan to obtain the nomination for the Presidency. When he had for several months devoted his time almost exclusively to working up evidence against and preparing to convict the leaders of the Chicago whisky ring he had acquired a knowledge and arranged plans to this end which made it impossible for any other man to slip into his position and carry this out. He knew that great pressure was being brought to bear to secure his removal and he wished to avoid it until the Chicago ring leaders were convicted. Just at this juncture when a warning to the St. Louis prosecution against the scheme of the Attorney General would have proved valuable, he dared not interpose lest it might result in his removal and the escape of whisky thieves in Chicago. The Secretary regarded him as a necessity to a successful prosecution of the ring, and had he undertaken to have exposed Pierrepont's plans his removal would most certainly have followed the discovery by Pierrepont of the act, besides Col. Dyer placed most implicit faith in the professions of Pierrepont and any suggestion as to the Attorney-General's scheme against the prosecution might have been resented. Considerations of this kind prompted Solicitor Wilson to refrain from giving advice that might have undermined his plan. Wilson did not forget that he wrote Henderson a letter advising him to keep a detective on Babcock's track during his visit in the fall of 1875 and that a copy of that letter was sent to the President. Henderson lost the letter, and by some means a copy found its way to the White House. Colonel Dyer and his assistants are fully aware of Pierrepont's treachery now. The day Babcock was acquitted Dyer said publicly that he had contended against an element which was bound to defeat him. He declined, at that time, to give any explanation but the fact that his eyes had just been opened to the element of opposition, was evident. The article also accuses Pierrepont with maneuvering for the removal of General Henderson, special counsel for the government.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Rumor of Changes in the Cabinet.

CHICAGO, March 4.—A Times Washington special says it is rumored that the President intends making an entire change in the cabinet. The anti Bristow wing claim he can now find a pretext that will crowd that gentleman out, and bring in a new Secretary of the Treasury, new Secretary of War and a new Postmaster General into his counsel. A prominent Senator said to day that the President asked if the Senate would confirm John C. New Secretary of War, if he was nominated. There is a report from army sources that the President lends a willing ear to the proposition to place General Sheridan in the war office temporarily while he is devising a cabinet which shall be homogeneous and respected by the nation. In the present condition of things he finds it impossible to obtain the services of citizens of high repute to place in his cabinet. A prominent Republican declared on the floor of the House yesterday that it was a greater honor to hold a chairmanship of a Congressional committee than to be a Cabinet official where such things can happen as were brought to light in Belknap's case.

Who Follows Belknap

CHICAGO, March 4.—The Tribune's Washington special says the general inquiry is who shall follow Belknap into disgrace. There is a panic, suspicion or unrest of apprehended corruption here. The best men of both parties are mournful and insist that we have fallen upon a period of greed as that others in high places may be brought low. Secretary Robeson's name is mentioned and two committees are working at him. Be these rumors what they may, two members of these committees say to night that they have as yet found no trace of crime that warrants the rumors. The most that has been discovered is irregularity and improper interpretation of laws.

Preparations of Articles of Impeachment.

The judiciary committee which had, two days ago arranged for the examination to day of Marshal O. Roberts, of New York, in the Texas Pacific investigation set aside that arrangement in order to give its attention to the preparation of articles of impeachment against the late Secretary of War, in which business it was occupied all day. There are two counts. The first charges Secretary Belknap with having accepted a bribe and the second with continuing to accept the same.

Belknap's Punishment being Prepared.

The Attorney General has been in consultation with District Attorney Wells relative to Belknap and the preliminary papers with a view to his punishment, have been prepared. They will be sent to the grand jury next week when it is expected an indictment will promptly follow. Similar proceedings will be instituted against Marsh. The Attorney General had a consultation with the President to day on the subject.

Gen. Belknap to be Indicted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4.—The grand jury will meet Monday when the indictment against General Belknap will be found. The penalty for this offense, if found guilty, is stated to be three years imprisonment and a fine of twice the amount of the moneys corruptly received.

More Sales of Post Traderships.

NEW YORK, March 4.—A special from Washington says Blackburn of the committee on expenditures in the War Department states that the committee is in possession of evidence showing that five other post traderships besides that of Fort Sill were sold for sums ranging from five hundred to twenty five thousand dollars a year. That an outrageous fraud has been unearthed in the disbursements of the million dollars appropriated by Congress for putting up headstones over the graves of Union soldiers.

Babcock Discarded

WASHINGTON, March 4.—It is officially stated Gen. Babcock's connection with [illegible] at the Executive Mansion has ceased.

Real Estate Pool Investigation

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The committee appointed to investigate the alleged real estate pool in the district of California met to-day. Kilbourn, of Kilbourn & Latta, who was summoned to produce the books of that firm appeared and denied the right of the committee to compel a disclosure of the private affairs of their customers. Judge [illegible] Black then began an argument on this point on behalf of the witness.

Democratic Caucus

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The Democratic Caucus was in session until 2 o'clock to-night and by a vote of [illegible] to 16 adjourned until Tuesday night without taking a test vote on [illegible] which was fully debated. [illegible] his modified bill as the report of the majority consisting of representatives Payne, Barnum, Morrison and Gibson and Senators Thurman, Bayard, McDonald and Merriman. The minority report was made by Representatives Bright, Holman, Walker and Southard. It simply proposed to repeal that part of the specie resumption act which fixes the first day of January 1879 for that purpose.

The Democratic caucus last night was attended by less than half the members of that party in Congress. A number of them say there is no provocation for them to waste time in an effort to effect a general agreement on the subject of finances as they are no nearer an approach to a reconciliation than they were a month ago. Nothing was said in last night's caucus and neither of their divisions showed any disposition to yield. The caucus will meet next Tuesday night, [illegible] effort to reconcile the different views. It was said by a prominent western member on [illegible] of the caucus last night, If we could only rid ourselves of the Eastern opposition of [illegible] there would be no difficulty among us in the West on the currency question.

Conspirators to Defraud the Government Arrested.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Upon an order of the Secretary of the Treasury, Capt. Craig and G. W. Bryant of Missouri, were arrested here yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government of $8,000 on the alleged loss of a train while transporting government freight between Leavenworth and Fort Yuma. It is stated by parties in interest that this claim had been under investigation for the last ten years and was passed by the different departments with the suspicion of fraud, payment being delayed in consequence only of supposed want of jurisdiction. In November last, however, that question was decided satisfactorily to the Second Comptroller who passed the claim. It appears that suspicion was first excited as to the justice of the claim by the clamor of representatives of persons who expected to share in the award. A judicial investigation will take place to morrow.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The London Press on the Belknap Scandal.

LONDON, March 4.—The Times says editorially of the Belknap scandal: This event is more grave because it is confirmatory of the suspicion which has long prevailed among the American people. Even Europeans cannot but be struck with the altered tones in which Americans speak, if not of their institutions at least of the men who have the present direction of them.

The News, alluding to the same subject says: American political life seems to be in anything but a healthy condition. It refers to the whisky frauds, Emma mine scandal and the downfall of Belknap and says that these scandals lift the veil from the actions of the higher society which it was hitherto pretty generally supposed had as yet escaped the impurities of the social strata below, and this lead one to fear that some of the worst vices of municipal government may be percolating into the federal administration.

The Telegraph says: Disclosures after disclosures, charges after charges differing in degrees of truth but with some ugly and untoward character have lately darkened the commercial, religious, judicial and administrative institutions of the United States. Some have proved false, others true and more await evidence, but the general effect beyond denial has been and is, to bring the blush of shame and anxiety into the face of all honest Americans and to make countless friends of the republic in this country silent and sorrowful, when its enemies rejoice over these recurring revelations.

The Standard says: Happily the countries are few where so gross an abuse of trust would be possible.

Minister Schenck on his way Home.

LIVERPOOL, March 4.—Minister Schenck sailed for the United States to-day in the steamer Abyssinia.

Semi Panic in the London Stock Exchange.

LONDON, March 4.—The Evening Standard's financial article says: At this hour 1 o'clock a semi panic prevails at the Stock Exchange in home railways which have been forced for sale at every important fall. Many sales are stated to be on banking account, and it is assumed that the extent of the fall in some stocks will lead to difficulties at the next fortnightly settlement.

Bank of England.

The amount of bullion gone into the Bank of England on balance to day is £18,000.

The Cotton Defrauders.

LIVERPOOL, March 4.—The brokers charged with fraudulent transactions in cotton have not yet been arrested. It is reported they have gone to Spain. It is not unlikely that further revelations will be made shortly. The firm of W. Hewitt & Sons was one of the first buying houses established in Liverpool in the cotton trade and is 100 years old.

Sanguinary Battle Near Dabra.

RAGUSA, March 4.—A sanguinary battle was fought yesterday near Dabra, in which 800 Turks were killed.

The placards posted in Ragusa, promulgating Turkish reforms, have been posted over with figures of death's heads.

The insurgents have issued a manifesto scouting all propositions of peace.

Amnesty for Turkish Insurgents.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 4.—The Porte following the amicable advice given by the Powers has granted the insurgents complete amnesty. Every preparation has been made by Austria and Hungary to accelerate the return of the refugees to their homes. The Porte has promised the refugees on their return that they will be protected against molestation. They will be supplied gratuitously with material for reconstruction and grain for sowing. All tithes will be remitted for one year, and other taxes for two years.

The Insurgents Reject the Proposed Reforms.

RAGUSA, March 5.—According to advices from Sclavonic sources M. Rodich gave a hearing on Saturday to the insurgent leaders who have taken refuge in Cettinje. Twenty men were present, among them Luca Wukovitch and other important leaders. They unanimously rejected the proposed reforms. M. Rodich threatened strict surveillance and a withdrawal of the relief which Austria has hitherto granted the refugees, but the chiefs remained obdurate. M. Rodich appointed another interview for the Secretary to hear their final decision.

Slaughter of Christians by the Turks.

The same dispatch says after the reform "firman" was promulgated in northern Bosnia the Turks rose against the Christians in some villages, killed several and drove away the remainder. Many of the fugitives were drowned in the river Unno.

Aid to Herzegovina from Dalmatia.

LONDON, March 6.—A dispatch from Vienna reports that Ljubobratich organized a band of insurgents in Dalmatia, crossed the river Narenta near Mokovict, and entered Herzegovina on Saturday. He intends to attack Mostar.

Don Carlos Gone to London.

BOULOGNE, March 4.—Don Carlos started at half past 2 this afternoon for London.

LONDON, March 4.—Don Carlos arrived at Folkestone from Boulogne. When he left the Southeastern Railway station for London a large crowd assembled, some cheered and others hissed and groaned. He reached Charing Cross station in London at 7:30 P. M.

Carlists to be Amnestied.

MADRID, March 4.—All the Carlists submitting to the government prior to the 15th inst. are to be amnestied.

No Protest from the Vatican.

It is stated that the Vatican will not make a formal protest against the article of the new constitution concerning religious tolerance.

Preparing for the First Meeting of the Senate.

PARIS, March 4.—An official notice issued to day informs the Senators elect there will be a preparatory meeting on the 7th inst. to form a provisional bureau to fix upon the order of the day for the first sitting of the Senate. The deputies have also received a similar notice.

Ministerial Programme Agreed Upon.

PARIS, March 4.—According to the latest advices it appears that an understanding has been arrived at with regard to the principal features of the ministerial programme. Duke De Cases and General Cissy will retain their portfolios as ministers of foreign affairs and war respectively. There is some disagreement still concerning the minister of marine. The Left intend contesting the elections of several deputies, principally Bonapartists.

Annexation of Khokand.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 4.—The annexation of Khokand to Russia has been formally proclaimed.

Papal Praises.

ROME, March 4.—When Ledochowski visited the Pope his Holiness exclaimed: We rejoice with thee intrepid defender of the faith. May God crown thy noble aspirations.

The Second Elections in France.

PARIS, March 5—12 P. M.—Elections were held to day in the districts which failed to choose deputies at the first election two weeks ago. The results of the recent ballots as far as known at this hour are as follows: The constitutional conservatives have been successful at Brest, Compiègne, [illegible], Roc, Orleans and Yvetot. The Bonapartists carried the elections in [illegible]. The two last places elected M. M. Raoul Duval and Haentjens respectively. Three more Bonapartists were elected, including one in the Department of Gironde, but the names of three are not reported. The monarchists carried the elections in Guingamp, Nantes, St. Nazaire and in Bressuire. M. De La Rochejaquelein, legitimist, was elected at Bressuire by a large majority. Advices from [illegible] Bourbon announce that M. [illegible] Serve (Rep.) has been elected. [illegible] arrondissements of Paris the following candidates have been elected: M. Brad defeating the Marquis De Plœuc [illegible] by a large majority; M. Tirard defeating M. Bartolini (Bonapartist) by 3,000 majority; M. Spuller, chief editor of La Republique Française, by an almost unanimous vote; [illegible] received 7,151 votes against 1,100 polled by M. [illegible] Bonapartist. The Duc D. Cazes polled [illegible] votes, while his Bonapartist opponent M. Raoul Duval received 3,550. M. Farcy and Allain Targé, both by large majorities. M. Bamberger, (Centre) Republican deputy from Alsace, at Neuilly-Sur-Seine. M. [illegible] at Courbevoie. M. Talandier at Sceaux. This completes the returns for the department of the Seine in which all the candidates elected to day with one exception are Republicans as contradistinguished from Radicals. The Republicans were also successful at Bordeaux, Toulouse, Toulon, Gex, Neufchâtel, Mauriac, [illegible], Vesoul, Havre, Hazebrouck, Castres, Cherbourg, Blaye, Issel, Chateaudun and Pontoise. At Pontoise, Col. Langlois was elected by a large majority. M. Lockroy, Radical, was elected without opposition at Aix. M. Naquet, Radical, was elected at Apt. M. Raspail, Radical, was elected in Marseilles.

Plague Reappears in Turkey

IMPEACHMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

[Continuation of Friday's Proceedings.]

Kasson appealed to Clymer to give an opportunity for some suggestions to be made before asking the previous question on a matter of so grave importance.

Clymer regretted that he could not oblige his friend, and for the reason that his colleagues on the committee desired to be heard after the previous question was seconded.

Kasson: Allow me to say there will not be the slightest opposition to their being all heard.

Clymer: I decline to yield and demand the previous question.

Kasson: Does the gentleman expect the House to-night after 5 o'clock and without this report being printed to vote on these resolutions when even the impeachability of an officer is at present a point to be considered by the House?

Clymer: After the previous question has been ordered I will yield half an hour to the members of the committee who are on the other side.

Clymer after submitting the unanimous report of the committee read the following testimony and accompaniment:

TUESDAY, Feb. 29th.

Committee met. Present: Clymer, Blackburn and Robbins. Caleb P. Marsh, one of the witnesses ordered to be subpœnaed by the committee being present, was duly sworn according to law.

Question by the chairman: Were you or not appointed or tendered an appointment as post trader at Fort Sill in the fall of 1870 by the Secretary of War? If so, under what circumstances was the appointment secured you? State also if you were commissioned by the Secretary as such post trader, or if not, who was so commissioned and if any other person than yourself was so commissioned, give his name, the reasons why he was commissioned. If any agreement was made between you and appointee state or produce it, if in writing, and was such agreement made with the knowledge of the Secretary of War, and state the circumstances connected with making that agreement, and all transactions in detail as fully and particularly as if you were specially interrogated in regard to the several transactions, and so fully as to save the necessity of repeated interrogatories.

In reply to your question I would state that in 1870 myself and wife spent some weeks at Long Branch and on our return to New York Mrs. Belknap and Mrs. Bowers, by our invitation, came to visit our house. Mrs. Belknap was ill during the visit some three or four weeks and I suppose in consequence of our kindness to her she felt under some obligations for she asked me one day in the course of conversation, why I did not apply for a post tradership on the frontier. I asked what they were and was told that many of them were very lucrative offices, that if I wanted one she would ask the Secretary for one. Upon replying I thought such offices belonged to disabled soldiers, and besides that I was without political influence she answered that politicians got such places, etc. I do not remember saying if I had a valuable post of that kind I would remember her. I remember her saying something like this: "If I can prevail upon the Secretary of War to award you a post you must be careful to say nothing to him about presents, for a man once offered him $10,000 for a tradership of this kind, and he told him if he did not leave the office he would kick him down stairs." Remembering as I do this story, I presume the antecedent statement to be correct. Mrs. Belknap and Mrs. Bowers returned to Washington and in a few weeks thereafter Mrs. Belknap sent me word to come over. I did so. She then told me that the post tradership at Fort Sill was vacant, that it was a valuable post. I understood that she either asked for it for me or had prevailed upon the Secretary to give it to me. At all events I called upon the Secretary and made application for the position on a regular printed form. The Secretary said he would appoint me if I could bring proper letters and recommendations, and this I said I could do. Either Mrs. Belknap or the Secretary told me that the present trader at the post, John S. Evans, was an applicant for reappointment, and that I had better see him, he being in the city, as it would not be fair to turn him out of office without some notice as he would lose largely on his buildings, goods, etc. If the office was taken from him and it would be proper and just for me to make some arrangement with him for their purchase if I wished to own the post myself. I saw Evans and found him alarmed at the prospect of losing the place. Evans said a firm of western post traders who claimed a good deal of influence with the Secretary of War promised to have him appointed, but he had found on coming to Washington this firm to be without influence. Evans first proposed a partnership which I declined, then a bonus of certain part of the profits if I would allow him to hold the position and continue the business. We finally agreed upon $15,000 per year. Evans and myself went on to New York together, where the contract was made and executed. During our trip over Evans saw something in the Army and Navy Journal which led him to think some of the troops were to be removed from the fort and he had offered too large a sum, and that after the contract was drawn it was reduced by agreement to $12,000, the same being payable quarterly in advance. When the first remittance came to me, say probably in November 1870, I sent one half of the amount to Mrs. Belknap, either, I presume, by certificate of deposit or in bank notes by express. Being in Washington at a funeral some weeks after, I had a conversation with Mrs. Bowers to the following purport. I went up stairs in the nursery with Mrs. Bowers to see the baby. I said to her, "This child will have money coming to it before a great while." She said, "Yes. The mother gave the child to me and told me, The money coming from you she must take and keep, and it was all right." It seems to me I said, "Perhaps the father ought to be consulted." I say it seems so and yet I can give no reason for it, for as far as I know the father knew nothing of any money transactions between the mother and myself. I have a faint recollection of a remark of Mrs. Bowers that if I sent the money to the father that it belonged to her and she would get it anyway. I had certainly some understanding then or subsequently with her, or him, for when the next payment became due and came, I sent one half to the Secretary of War, and have continued substantially from that day forward to the present time to do so. I should say a year and a half to two years after the commencement of these payments I reduced the amount to $6,000 per year. The reason of this reduction was partly because of the combined complaints on the part of Evans and his partner, and partly, so far as I now remember, in consequence of an article in the newspapers about that time reflecting on the injustice done to soldiers at this fort, caused by the exorbitant charges made necessary on the part of the traders by reason of the payment of this bonus. To the best of my knowledge and belief, the above is a true statement of all facts in the case, and as complete as I can remember the occurrences of so many years ago. The money was sent according to the instructions of the Secretary of War, sometimes in bank notes by Adams' express. I think on one or more occasions by certificates of deposit on the National Bank of America in New York. Sometimes I have paid him in New York in person.

Question—Can you state the sum in the aggregate received by you under the contract with Evans and what portion thereof you have paid the Secretary of War, including the first and last payments, which you have stated were not paid to him? Answer—The first payment to me by Evans was made in the fall of 1870 at the rate of $12,000 a year. He paid at that rate about a year and a half or two years and since then at the rate of $6,000. It would aggregate about $40,000. When I sent money by express I would send him the receipt of the company which he would either return marked O. K. or otherwise acknowledge the receipt of the same. When sent by express I always deposited the money personally and took a receipt for it. I showed him the telegraph subpœna and asked him what it meant. He said he supposed it was to state before the committee what I knew about our transactions together. I said I did not like to appear because I thought my testimony would be damaging or would implicate or give him trouble. He said he thought so and advised me to stay and meet the committee. During that evening my conversation was chiefly with his wife, he being present part of the time and understanding the general tenor of our conversation. She suggested that I could make a statement which would satisfy the committee and exculpate the Secretary. She wanted me to go before the committee and represent that she and I had business transactions together for many years and all this money I had sent the Secretary was money she held [illegible] time to time deposited with me as a kind of banker and that she had instructed me to send it to the Secretary of War. I told her such a statement would not hold water before the committee and I could not make it. At the same time I was [illegible] such an anxiety [illegible] and having slept at [illegible] sympathize with [illegible] them a positive answer that [illegible] they said they would [illegible] I came down and met the Secretary [illegible] I thought I had better leave the country [illegible] myself in any [illegible] to have my [illegible] he did not wish me to do that. We could fix it up some other way. I said I thought I had better leave the country. The Secretary said [illegible] I said If I [illegible] ruin you [illegible] excited. When I came down [illegible] and asked me into the parlor [illegible] make a last appeal to you to stay [illegible] If I went he would be ruined. I said it would ruin him if I went before the committee. I left and took the lightning express for New York. On reaching home I consulted my attorney, asking if the committee could reach me by subpœna if I left the country. I stated [illegible] Mr. [illegible] He asked me if I was subpœnaed. I told him I had a dispatch calling me to Washington. He said if a subpœna had been duly served they could give me considerable trouble.

Question by the Chairman: Did you ever have any business relations or any kind of nature whatever with the late Mrs. Belknap or the present Mrs. Belknap or either of them other than those arising from the Fort Sill traders? Have you ever had any sum of money or any evidence of indebtedness or securities of any sort belonging to either of them, or have you at any time been indebted to either of them in any way, form, matter or description?

Never. The present Mrs. Belknap years ago may have consulted me on business matters but there were no monetary transactions whatever between us other than those I have heretofore stated.

In conversation with the present Mrs. Belknap at the funeral of her sister in December 1870 or in any other conversation had with her, or any person at any time was there an understanding that the money you were to pay and were paying was to be the money of Mrs. Belknap, the present wife of the Secretary of War?

It was not.

The foregoing deposition and statement made under oath having been carefully read over to Mr. Caleb P. Marsh the witness, in the presence of the committee and he having made such alterations and corrections therein as he deemed just, he asserts it to be a correct record of his testimony and attests the same by his signature thereto attached.

(Signed) CALEB P. MARSH.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29, 1876.

Mr. Robbins pleaded his mental and physical exhaustion from continuous service on the committee as the reason why he should not address the House at any length. He spoke of the report as presenting a case of great shame and disgrace to all American citizens. As to the question of impeachability of an officer who had resigned he was not prepared to speak worthily, except to suggest that it could not be true that an officer who was being investigated and who had been found by evidence to be a criminal, could flee from justice. He alluded to what he called the unseemly acceptance of Secretary Belknap's resignation and referred to the English cases of Hastings and Lord Bacon, both of whom had been impeached after they ceased to hold the offices in which they committed the crimes and misdemeanors.

Bass, of New York, another member of the committee, questioned the statement of Chairman Clymer as to this case having no parallel and said he would not have to leave his own borders in order to find not only a parallel for it but to find cases compared with which this case was as white as is the driven snow. He admitted the mere statement as presented by the testimony was sufficient to justify every member in voting for the resolutions presented.

Lamar inquired from Bass his opinion as to the impeachability of a resigned officer.

Bass replied that English authorities seemed to maintain jurisdiction of impeachment in such a case, but in this country it was an unadjudicated question and one that was not free from doubt. His own best judgment is in favor of the right to impeach and then let the question be adjudicated by the Senate.

Hoar, of Massachusetts in reference to a casual remark of some member as to this being a political question, entirely disclaimed and repudiated such an idea. On the point of the impeachability of a person not in office, he referred to the case of Whitemore of South Carolina, in which the House had determined that a formal actual renunciation of an office terminated the office and that any American citizen can lay down an office held by him without any acceptance of his resignation. Judge Story had laid down the doctrine that it could not be done in England, but there any citizen could be impeached and, therefore, the English cases of Warren Hastings and Lord Bacon did not apply in America. No man could be impeached but a civil officer, and when he ceased to be a civil officer he ceased to be within the literal description of the constitution. In this country the only judgment that could be rendered in an impeachment case was removal from office and further disqualified from holding office but by the statutes a person guilty of such offens should be indicted, tried and sentenced by the criminal courts of the country. He protested against hot haste in the matter without having the testimony presented. He thought such haste unworthy of the grave question and if he stood alone he would still stand here to say so.

Blackburn, another member of the committee, expressed his satisfaction that the report which had been read by his colleague (Clymer) showed to the world that nothing had been left undone by the committee to shield and shelter from dishonor every person except the one whom it was the duty of the committee to investigate and report upon. He would not consent that the gentleman from Massachusetts should make this a political or partisan question. He would not consent that this side of the House should be placed in the position of the prosecution and the other side should take up the position of defenders. It was a question which addressed itself alike to every member of the House. He regarded the case as unprecedented in more respects than one. The action of the President in accepting Belknap's resignation under the circumstances was unprecedented and this was the first instance in the history of the country where any man claiming manhood and holding an exalted position has sought to shelter himself from a legitimate investigation by interposing the dishonor of his wife. [Sensation.] Passing to the question of the impeachability of Belknap he suggested that the question as Judge Story had intimated, might possibly be left to the decision of the Senate on such a statement of facts. Would the House be asked to shrink from the performance of its duty because there might be a mist or shadow of doubt on that point? The House could not do so. It would not be admissible. He quoted from the impeachment case of Lord Bacon in which it was stated the Lord Chancellor had sought to save himself by resigning his high office. The attempt was vain as the King did not and could not interpose. Was the House to be told that the man in power at the other end of the avenue was able to rob an American Congress of the right and power which the King of Great Britain could not take from Parliament? It used to be the theory that the King could do no wrong, but no man had ever been found bold enough in this country to say the President could do no wrong. If the man who had uttered that memorable sentence—let no guilty man escape—had it in his power to rob an American Congress of its right to inflict punishment or to pronounce censure on a public convict where is the barrier to be found beneath whose shelter the liberties of the people could rest secure?

Hoar—Does the gentleman say Congress has power to punish any man in this country?

Blackburn—I will not submit to interruption. I am the last man who would introduce one atom of politics in this discussion. It is not admissible here. The Republican members of the committee were as earnest and honest in the prosecution of this inquiry and in the presentation of this report as the members representing a majority. In this House we have seen no difference in the committee. I appeal to the members of this House that there shall be no difference manifested here. If fraud has been perpetrated, if criminality exists, if corruption be proved, let the representatives of the people in this House so declare it and send the issue to the court where it may finally be tried and if unable to punish, where the guilt is almost openly confessed, let the responsibility for that failure rest on other shoulders than ours.

Danforth, another member of the committee expressed as his judgment that the acceptance of Belknap's resignation, in no manner changed the position of that officer in the country. He, however, disagreed with Chairman Clymer, that the conduct of this officer was the legitimate outgrowth of principles of the party in power, and he expressed a hope that there would not be a single Republican on this side of the House against the resolution.

The debate being closed the House proceeded to vote on the resolutions, and they were unanimously adopted.

The Speaker appointed as a committee to notify the Senate of the action of the House Messrs. Clymer, Robbins, Blackburn, Bass and Danforth—the members composing the committee on expenditures of the War Department making the report. The House then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The session to-day being for debate only on the bill to carry into effect the Hawaiian treaty, and the attendance of members being consequently small, Wood, of New York, who had the floor to conclude his speech and who did not desire to do so to empty benches, moved to adjourn. The vote showing there was a majority in favor of it propositions were made first to go on with the regular business, which the Speaker ruled out, and then to the discussion of general business.

Wood explained his motion by saying he was not present yesterday when the order for this day's session was made or he should have objected to it, because he did not want to speak for buncombe, for posterity, or for newspapers but for the members of the House. He did not want to be forced to go on with his speech when there was less than a quorum present.

Hall objected to any variation of order made yesterday.

Randall expressed his desire that this Hawaiian bill be got out of the House as soon as possible.

Reagan expressed his readiness to address some suggestions to those members who were present in respect to the Hawaiian treaty.

Wood thereupon withdrew his motion to adjourn and the House went into committee of the whole, Saylor in the chair, on the Hawaiian bill and was addressed by Reagan in opposition to the bill.

Further speeches were made on Hawaiian question by Ward and Jacobs and by Woodworth on the bill granting bounties to the heirs of soldiers who enlisted for less than one year and who were killed or died by reason of such service.

The House then adjourned.

MEXICO.

Revolution in Mexico—The Government Successful.

VERA CRUZ, Feb. 26, via Havana, March 5.—As the steamer was leaving Vera Cruz telegrams were received from the interior of Mexico announcing the triumph of the government at all points. The different revolutionary plans published show there has been no understanding among the rebel leaders. The government had asked a loan of $500,000 from the merchants of the capital which was at once granted and the money placed at President Lerdo's disposal.

A reception and ball at the residence of Minister Foster on Washington's birthday was attended by the President and members of the cabinet and the foreign legation and elite of society.

From parties who have recently arrived from Clear Lake the Sentinel learns that sheep are dying in large numbers there and that one person who has 4,000 head and who has them divided into three bands has been losing some fifteen or twenty head daily in each band, and should the present weather continue, he will lose all his sheep this winter.

Six marriage licenses were issued in Polk county in February.

The Springfield Mill Company propose to ship 1,000,000 feet of lumber during the present summer.

Circuit court for Yamhill county will convene on the 27th of this month. The docket so far is light.

The monte sharps, says the Plaindealer, appear to be running Roseburg at this time and no one to molest or make afraid.

The governor has appointed Ellis G. Hughes, of Portland, and T. A. Milliron, of Lane Co., notaries public for the State of Oregon.

The brig Orient, which waited at Gardiner for seven weeks for the appearance of the tug, has started on her journey to San Francisco.

A Chinese war is imminent in Roseburg. All the Chinese are arming, and a nice time is anticipated. The new Chinese wash-house is what's the matter.

Mr. James Sutton will at the earliest practicable day commence the publication of a weekly newspaper at Ashland, to be known as the Ashland Tidings.

The body of an Indian woman was lately discovered near Warm Springs Reservation, under such circumstances as led to the belief that she had been murdered.

The Pioneer Oil Company, of Salem, have just received 25,000 pounds of Dutch flax seed from Holland direct. It is small seed and is to be distributed among the farmers.

Three thousand six hundred and forty-seven dollars in silver coin was received by Sheriff Eakin last Saturday, being the amount of taxes due from the O. & C. R. R. Co.

Hon. R. N. Tolin died at his residence on Deer creek, Josephine county, on the 22d of February. At the time of his death, Mr. Tolin was State senator from that county.

It now appears that Jacobs, the showman, did not shoot any body at Jefferson, but only had a fight with two women, both claiming him as husband. He had his ear bitten pretty badly in the contest.

Mr. Bewley, the mail carrier from Tillamook to North Yamhill, reports considerable snow on the Coast mountains. In places it is fully five feet deep, but on the immediate route it is not so deep.

Ed Driver, the young man from Douglas county reported dead, from being frozen in Eastern Oregon, is alive. He had nine of his toes amputated, and the latest report represented him as recovering.

Vast stretches of land are being plowed on the hills opposite Salem, in Polk county, the excessive rains, which render it impossible to work low land, not being any impediment to the farmers in that section.

Mr. Smith, the mail contractor from Roseburg to Coos Bay, has recently fallen heir to a large legacy from the East. The wheel of fortune rolls on, and we draw a lucky prize frequently when it is least expected.

A society under the name of the Astoria Debating Society, was organized in Astoria on Wednesday evening, March 1. The following officers were chosen to serve for the ensuing three months: Prof. W. L. Worthington, President; F. J. Taylor, Vice President; O. F. Whitelaw, Secretary; B. Van Dusen, Treasurer. Object of the society being the mutual improvement of its members, by declamations, debates, etc.

The citizens of Roseburg and Deer creek are for the first time awakened to the fact that they need a good road into town from the valley, and like sensible men have taken hold of the matter in a way that will almost secure them a No. 1 road. They propose raising by subscription some $2,000 to be expended in graveling the road. This gravel is to be put on in such quantity and in such manner that it will hold its body and make a good road the year round.

The Eugene Guard says: The Champion was on Tuesday, about noon, blown by the high wind that prevailed, on to a bar, and was detained until 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Had she been supplied with sufficiently strong lines, she would not have lain on the bar more than two hours. In conversation with Captain Wilson, he stated that he expected in the course of four or five years to see the river navigable to Eugene the whole year through, and that at a very small outlay of money.

On the 23d ult., John Gates, living on Coyote creek, in Lane county, concluded to chop down a fir tree near his house, and began the work, determined, it seems, either to fall it away from the house or directly across it. A neighbor came along and told him it would fall on his house, but he thought otherwise and chopped away. The neighbor called Mrs. Gates out of the house and warned her of her danger. She is still out—as John fell the tree on the house, knocking it and its contents to splinters.

CENTENARIAN DEAD.—Last Friday "Uncle Billy" Bragg breathed his last at the house of L. McDaniel, near Independence. "Uncle Billy" has long been a resident of Oregon, having come to this State in 1841. His age is rather uncertain, further than it is pretty definitely known that he was 105 at the time of his death, some however put his age at 110 and 111. He had made Mr. McDaniel's his home for many years being destitute. Mr. McD. (be it said to his credit) has for many years provided for all his wants during life, and when dead gave him decent burial. "Uncle Billy" of late years was wont to say, "I want to live long enough to vote another Democratic ticket." He was an old member of the Church. He died while sitting in a chair when the folks were eating dinner, and it was not discovered that he was dead until some time after. He had long had his burial garments selected, and had several times laid himself down to die, and finally passed off while asleep.—Dallas Itemizer.

A Dayton correspondent of the Walla Walla Spirit says: Mrs. Ellen Parr, daughter of Jas. Parr, died here this morning. Cruel treatment at the hands of those she has been boarding with was the cause of her death, according to her statement. The grand jury will no doubt investigate the matter. There is a strong feeling against the parties, and Judge Lynch may be applied to for justice.

THE TERRITORIES

Frank C. Baker has received and accepted the appointment of private secretary to Gov. Thompson, of Idaho.

On the City of Panama came forty-four car wheels all the way from Chicago, for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company at Tacoma.

A large number of entries of coal lands, situated in Pierce and King counties, have recently been made in the U. S. land office at Olympia.

Mr. Ross, who has been editor of the Walla Walla Union ever since its foundation, has just "stepped down and out," and Mr. Johnson takes his place.

The Chehalis river was very high on Saturday last, overflowing its banks and covering bottom lands. This is the thirteenth time it has overflowed its banks since the middle of October last.

The Owyhee Avalanche thinks there is a well organized band of highway robbers, with headquarters in Boise City, who extend their operations all over Idaho, and probably in Eastern Oregon.

Appearances are that a daily mail down Sound, below Tacoma, will be delayed for some time to come. In Washington, there seems to be a retrenchment mania. We regret its application in cases like the one named above.

The Seattle Coal and Transportation Company brought more coal from the mines to the wharf last Monday than on any previous day. The quantity was 460 tons. The nearest this was ever before reached was 430 tons, one day last week.

The Idaho Avalanche says: The backbone of old Winter is broken, and he now lingers in the lap of Spring for repairs. The old chap will doubtless hobble out again and bluster around considerably next month, before giving up the ghost entirely.

The Victoria Standard "learns from undoubted authority that Mr. Stahlschmidt, of Wharf street, has been in telegraphic communication with Mr. Mackenzie for the purchase of the whole of the Canadian Pacific steel rails on this coast, for American capitalists, we believe [illegible] the Northern Pacific railway."

The final certificates for 5,400 acres of soldiers' homesteads have been issued at the land office in Olympia during the present month. These are in addition to homesteads which have heretofore been entered in Missouri and Arkansas, of less than 160 acres of land, and are entered here through an authorized attorney.

A little unpleasantness came off at Klickitat City, W. T., last Monday, on which occasion pistols were drawn, and at one time had the appearance of going to be a serious affray. The result was that the parties were arrested and brought before Squire Bunnell, of Rockland, and after an examination they were discharged.

On Saturday last the Seattle Coal and Transportation Company filed with the secretary of the territory, a certified copy of their act of incorporation. This was in keeping with the law passed by the last legislative assembly of the territory in relation to foreign corporations, securing to them all the rights and privileges of home companies.

We understand that the Daily Olympian made its first appearance in the capital city of our sister Territory on Monday last, but we have not yet been favored with a sight of the little stranger. It is described to us as a four-column paper, neat typographically, and of considerable force editorially. It is the fourth daily in the Territory. Olympia and Seattle each having two.

The postmaster of Olympia has received a letter from a professional sport somewhere in Wisconsin, with a request to hand it to "the most reliable gambler in Olympia," making inquiries as to whether a well-managed faro bank would be a lucrative investment here. It appears that the writer of the letter run a like institution in that place several years ago, and that it "panned out" so well he is disposed to try it again.

From Hon. W. W. Boone the Echo learns that Colfax, W. T., has been lively all winter. At that place there have been two private schools and a district school, with an average attendance of over one hundred scholars. Old Winter has bid the citizens of the place good-by, and spring is upon them. Seeding has already commenced there. Social parties have been the rage there since the 1st of January. It being leap-year, the ladies take the [illegible]. A new saw and grist mill is to be built on the Spokane river this spring, by Mr. Post. It will be running in time for the coming harvest.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Colonist says ex-Mayor Harris has been awarded the contract for supplying the navy at Victoria station with bread.

R. McMoneygale, of unsound mind, was examined by Drs. McInnes and Trew, at New Westminster and will be sent down to the asylum.

The name of the ship Nation's Hope has been changed to Frank Austin, after Capt. Austin, one of her owners. She will be ready for sea in a few days.

A requisition calling on the ex-Hon. Mr. Armstrong to support the Elliott government or resign his seat, is being signed in New Westminster district.

Mr. A. W. Smith, of Lillooet, who was removed by the late government from the position of agent has been reinstated by the Elliott government.

The new harbor light at Victoria was illuminated on the night of the 1st for the first time. The light is a fixed blue one, and in clear weather will be seen a distance of six or seven miles.

Dubney G. Jones was fully committed and now lies in jail at Victoria awaiting the arrival of the Governor General's warrant, when he will be surrendered to the United States authorities.

In three months ending Dec. 1, 1875, the exports of British Columbia exceeded those of the last quarter of 1874 by $25,890. There was a decrease in every commodity except gold, but in gold bars and dust there was a great increase. Coal, canned salmon, lumber, furs, hides, wool, hops and cranberries make up the list of principal exports, which for the last quarter of 1875 footed up to $938,400.

MONDAY MORNING MARCH 6 1876

THE LAST AND WORST ULCERATION AT WASHINGTON

Another and a most shocking development of corruption in high place has come to light, at which the whole country stands aghast General Belknap, Secretary of War is shown to have been engaged in such corrupt practices that shame one almost as much on account of their unparalleled vulgarity as by reason of their inherent baseness The selling of official patronage is bad enough in all conscience, but when an official whose position places him and his family at the very top of society makes use of his wife as the instrument of his corrupt greed, the English language fails to supply words sufficiently strong to characterize his infamy Think of a cabinet minister making merchandise of his wife's social relations and using her to cap for customers who will pay him gold for his dishonor and for the shame of his country! Surely this ought to be the end of the hideous chapter of infamies which has been running on so long and so rapidly for the last few years that honest men are ashamed to have it said that they have had anything to do with politics

The Republicans of the House of Representatives have done the only thing that was possible for them to do, if they would save themselves from everlasting disgrace and their party from extermination they have voted, without a dissenting voice, for the impeachment of Belknap. Any other course would have doomed the party in the Presidential election in November They have made the best of it, and still the influence of this awful disclosure is likely to exercise no little influence His impeachment was not allowed to be made a party question, but his crimes will be charged to the party that made him what he was. The Senate will undoubtedly sustain the impeachment, unless, as some claim, his retiring from office takes away the jurisdiction to punish by impeachment.

And this brings forward another circumstance of the case which deserves attention. Why does the President make this question possible, by accepting his resignation before the impeachment is tried? There is no occasion for it. The matter could be disposed of very soon The interposition of the President, let us hope, is the result of inadvertence, not of a design to screen Belknap. The President does not pretend to be a lawyer, and it is possible that if it is true that he has accepted Belknap's resignation, he did so before his attention was called to the probability of an impeachment and the legal effect of a resignation upon that proceeding. At all events we prefer to believe this to be the true explanation.

It will be said the administration is honeycombed through and through with corruption. We fear the case is worse than that, bad as that is. We fear the canker of corruption is not confined to the administration, or to one party The methods that have prevailed in politics, in all parties, have been such as to debauch the entire country The political morals of the country have become honeycombed with corruption To buy position and then to get back through bribery the money thus expended has come to be regarded as something less base than the vulgar offense of larceny. The pecuniary value of an office is gauged, not by the amount of compensation fixed by law, but by the opportunities it affords for gaining lucre through corrupt practices. Every one who mingles with men knows we speak but the truth, sad and shameful truth though it be. It is this general state of demoralization upon political matters that lies at the foundation of the official corruption which has manifested itself in so many places and ways. The remedy, therefore, must come from the bottom. It is not to be found in a change of parties, for the same practices have prevailed in all parties. It is to be found in a complete and thorough abandonment of those methods and means in politics which have produced the state of things so much deplored. It is to be found in a radical reformation of the first principles of political action in all parties. These investigations and exposures may cauterize the sore and suppress its suppuration for a day; but they will not cure it. The time has come to deal with first causes, and if the country refuse to deal with them, it will refuse at its peril.

THE PROGRAMME OF THE RING

The appointment of Samuel Hannah, of Union county, to be collector of customs at this port to succeed H. W Scott, has been announced. It may be expected that a number of other removals will be made immediately By those who do not know the facts there will be, doubtless, some surprise at these removals, and perhaps considerable inquiry as to the cause of them. Here in Portland the matter is very well understood, but throughout the State there may not be the same degree of knowledge. In plain words, these officials have refused to accept the programme of the Holladay ring, and have tried for some time past to work their party towards better ends, so as to make it possible for a decent Republican to associate with his party without incurring shame and disgrace They have been known as friends of Senator Hipple Fidelity to his friends was about the remaining trait possessing any semblance of virtue that any one could still pretend to claim for him, and even this claim is now proven to be false by his own conduct.

The Republican party of Oregon has appeared to be nearer harmony of late than for a number of years past There has seemed to be hope that it might succeed this year in electing a Senator But the conclusion is becoming irresistible that Holladay wants no Republican Senator elected if he himself cannot go, he prefers a Democrat, and he and his ring will try to elect one All signs point this way. Holladay is better content with his present Senator, whom he is able, as events have shown, to control whenever he wants to do so, than to take the chance of encountering at Washington a Republican senator of character and influence who would speedily reduce him and his present man to their lowest terms These considerations furnish the only possible reason why men who in past times were Hipple's most efficient supporters, and to whom he was bound by all the obligations which men of honor hold most sacred should now receive this blow from his hand

The Republican party is overburdened and the country shamed by the presence of corruptionists and scoundrels in public position while those against whom no charges of delinquency in office have ever been brought are removed as others of like character have been removed during past years to make room for such as are expected to be men obedient to our self appointed masters who are sinking the American name to political infamy and the country to moral perdition with this style of politics

There is manifest a settled determination on the part of the ringmasters to enforce an authority which the Republican party never gave them, by means the party can never sanction. The programme is Holladay or some tool of his for Senator this year, and Hipple for re-election two years hence No party can support this description of politics and the methods it carries with it No party can consent to it and live It is for disobedience to this programme and the infamous proceedings it implies that these officials are removed The removal, under such circumstances, is an honor they can very well afford We have not a habit or gift of prophesy, we simply ask all who read this to wait and behold the result We will all see who wins at last At this time we have only to add that if the Republican party hopes to live it must cast out those who have brought reproach upon its name and who are manifestly resolved to sink it still lower And it is evident on all sides that the disposition to cast out all such is growing with mighty energy and preparing to move with resistless purpose The days of the Hollidays and Hipples and Belknaps and Babcocks are numbered and not a day too soon

The Standard imagines it has discovered an inconsistency in the remarks of the OREGONIAN concerning the Babcock trial, because we said we considered Babcock's explanation of the correspondence between himself and the leaders of the whisky ring at St Louis rather too gauzy to be credited and then after the jury had acquitted him, that the prosecution had failed to make out a sufficiently convincing case to secure his conviction Since the Standard seems to take delight in that sort of small criticism, we will save it the trouble of referring to different issues of the OREGONIAN to prove its charge of inconsistency by bringing the supposed contradictory statements into juxtaposition Certainly Babcock's explanation of the suspicious correspondence was exceedingly gauzy so gauzy, in our estimation as to be utterly transparent and yet the prosecution failed to produce evidence to convince the jury of his guilt We wish the Standard great joy in all it gains showing up the inconsistency of these statements as we have no occasion to be jealous of the influence it will obtain among intelligent people by that sort of criticism

About the maddest man in Washington on Saturday was Fernando Wood He had prepared a noble oration on the Hawaiian treaty which he hoped to deliver in the presence of a crowded house for their edification and his own glory Unfortunately for Mr Wood no one seemed to care about hearing him, and when the time for speaking his piece came the House was empty. Then Mr. Wood was mad and tried to put off speaking until he could have a proper audience This is another evidence of the demoralization of the times—they did not serve other great men, Clay and Webster, in that way in the good old days that are gone forever and ever by

Our New York correspondent informs us that Mr. Ben Holladay is building four splendid steamers for the trade between Astoria and San Francisco, and that it is Mr Holladay's intention to place on the rivers between Astoria and the head of navigation, a line of first-class river boats, shipping on through bills of lading from Lewiston or Eugene to San Francisco, and vice versa —Astorian

The broadness of the above joke will be appreciated by those who know that Mr Holladay could not buy the Commodore Perry if it were up at auction.

Bishop Ledochowski is, or ought to be happy Such a salutation as he received from the Pope should be a salve potent enough in its soothing and healing effects to take away the pains and aches from which he was suffering on account of his late imprisonment and his present deprivation of the honors and emoluments of his bishopric.

The Sublime Porte is making great efforts to induce the Herzegovinian refugees to return home One half the concessions now offered them, if made before they left would have prevented the outbreak and revolution which has given Turkey so much trouble and cost so much blood and treasure

Russia, in annexing Khokand, has made another long stride in the direction in which for years past her steps have been turning It is not improbable that Russian and English arms may again cross in the East and a desperate struggle ensue on the banks of the Indus for supremacy in Asia

Don Carlos has taken refuge for the present in England On his arrival at Folkstone a large crowd gathered to see him A part of the crowd seemed to be friendly, but others hissed and groaned at him

PLUMMER FRUIT DRYER.

AS A PROOF OF WHAT I HAVE HERETOFORE stated to the people of Oregon I give below a letter from the Plummer Fruit Drying Co of East Portland After the close of business of 1875, fully endorsing it after using it one entire season and as a proof to substantiate what they say they now contemplate putting up another Dryer, of the same capacity of the one they now have which will increase their capacity to five hundred bushels of apples per day Having now located here in Portland for the purpose of supplying the demand for Fruit Dryers in Oregon and Washington Territory I can supply these dryers at a cost of from $1 000 to $5 000 according to capacity Warranted to dry from 4 to 20 bushels of apples per hour at a small cost for labor and fuel These machines being so cheap and simple in construction they cannot fail to supersede all other known machines. I would also say to the fruit growers that I have invented a Machine (and am now waiting for a patent) that will cut and spread the fruit on the trays with a very small amount of labor I also have invented a Peach Parer that is on an entirely new principle paring soft as well as hard does its work well with great speed and slices and pits the fruit ready for the Dryer in the best possible manner, and at a great saving in quantity of fruit

Having become somewhat acquainted with the wants of the people I find that a cheap DRYER is what is wanted and one that will do good work and a large amount of it I have so modified my Dryer as to meet that demand and can now guarantee my CHEAP DRYER to do as good work as any and as large an amount of it and the price is within the reach of all

FRUIT DRYER TESTIMONIALS.

EAST PORTLAND, Jan 4th 1876

MR W S PLUMMER—Dear Sir As this is a time when all are much interested in Fruit Drying, we think that in justice to you and for the information of the public it is but right and proper that we should give all the information that we can Now after having operated your Dryer during this season we feel warranted in saying that for the amount of money invested we still believe as we did from the start that your Dryer is the best Dryer yet introduced into this country The capacity of the Dryer we find to be about 8 (eight) bushels per hour The Dried fruit we claim to be as good as any though perhaps not as much bleached as the Alden Fruit and we are satisfied that we can produce Dried Fruit at less expense than the "Alden" The stockholders of our Company manifested their confidence in the Plummer Dryer at our meeting last Saturday by a unanimous vote to increase the capital stock $12 000 (twelve thousand dollars) for the purpose of adding one more Dryer to the present one and making other improvements for next season We will further say that we believe that by an improvement made by the patentee in the Heater and Fan that there will be an increase of capacity and a saving of Fuel
H HANSON President,
J S NEWELL Secretary and Superintendent

EAST PORTLAND Dec 18, 1875

MR PLUMMER—Dear Sir I have been watching both the Alden and your Fruit Dryer the past season so as to determine which was the best Machine for drying Prunes I visited the Alden Dryer at Oregon City and examined the Prunes dried on that Machine and I have also examined several lots dried on your Machine at East Portland and my opinion is that your Dryer is far the best Machine for drying Prunes My reasons are these: Your Machine dries them without bursting or cracking while I noticed that a great deal of the fruit dried on the Alden Machine was bursted open and after a Prune is bursted in drying it is worthless for market as a Prune therefore I can recommend your Machine for drying Prunes or any thing else Yours truly

CITY.

PORTLAND-ASTORIA TELEGRAPH LINE —Mr [illegible] Lamb informs us that up to noon last Saturday the sum of $5 500 was subscribed by citizens of Portland toward the construction of the new telegraph line between this city and Astoria. It was expected that Portland would subscribe $6 000 toward the new line, leaving $4 000 to be raised among the [illegible] of Astoria and the fishermen The [illegible] $500 will be raised in this city to [illegible], if that additional sum has not already been pledged by our business men At the [illegible] the former canvass was made among the [illegible] down the Columbia by Messrs [illegible] and Wright it was expected that the [illegible] of $4,000 could be raised there and at Astoria. Of that amount, about $2,500 was subscribed leaving $1 600 yet to be raised before the full amount—$10 000—can be pledged to the Telegraph Company It is to be sincerely hoped that there will be no delay in completing the necessary subscription Surely $1 500 ought to be raised promptly among the merchants and business men of Astoria and the fishermen In the success of this project the fishermen are directly interested as a large share of the business of the line will be derived from that source and hence no investment made by those engaged in fishing of [illegible] amount can give promise of affording a larger or more speedy return The proposal submitted and accepted by the Telegraph Company, is as fair as could be reasonably expected or asked for—really amounting to a loan of $10 000 by those subscribing to the company, payable any time within three years The importance of the proposed line requires that it be built, equipped and in operation at the earliest day Just as soon as the required amount is pledged the telegraph company will commence The [illegible] should go forward without delay [illegible] prominent, energetic gentleman of Astoria or elsewhere, should call upon the citizens and solicit subscriptions at once The line will be built from Astoria to Kalama where it will be attached to the wires and [illegible] telegraphic communication from [illegible] place to this city The line will [illegible] from Kalama to Oak Point [illegible] eastern shore of the Columbia At that [illegible] river will be crossed by means of a [illegible] about three quarters of a mile in length [illegible] the line continued to Astoria on the [illegible] Territory side The line will be [illegible] the river all the way down, which [illegible] facilitate its being repaired For [illegible], the proposed line will be as easily kept in good repair as any now owned by the Western Union Telegraph Company

THE SHIP ORIFLAMME.—Of the many fine [illegible] which have visited our port in the grain [illegible] during the last few years, none have excelled in finish, durability and appointments [illegible] ship Oriflamme now about to sail [illegible] for England with a cargo of wheat She [illegible] built at Liverpool about eleven years ago [illegible] has been so well kept by her master, Capt. [illegible], that we were really surprised to learn [illegible] old she is. Her registered capacity is [illegible] tons, but she will carry about a third [illegible]. As the Oriflamme belongs to Edward [illegible] & Sons, the great ship owners of Liverpool, who also own 40 ships of equal or greater [illegible], the report which her captain [illegible] of his trip to Portland may [illegible] a good deal of weight in determining [illegible] of his vessel in sending more of [illegible] ships here. Capt. Hughes was ordered, according to his charter, to load at Astoria, [illegible] when he came in person to Portland and [illegible] with the charterers of his ship, he [illegible] that by acceding to their proposition to [illegible] here he could save money, to the amount of at least $700 to his owners, he concluded to come here with his ship, and did so He [illegible] himself as well pleased with [illegible] arrangement and with the favorable circumstances under which the trip has so far [illegible], and he will, we are sure, carry [illegible] favorable report of our State He [illegible] were he at Melbourne or Sydney [illegible] for his vessel on the Pacific [illegible] he would [illegible] coming to Portland [illegible] making the voyage to San Francisco He [illegible] the bar at the mouth of the [illegible] any more of a difficulty in the way [illegible] than the bar at Liverpool and [illegible] that with a [illegible] outlay, comparatively [illegible] river could be made navigable for any [illegible] vessels in a short time With the good [illegible] has concerning his trip [illegible] Captain Hughes will [illegible] with the utmost good fortune until he [illegible] his port and ever afterwards [illegible] & Macleay, who are loading [illegible] are giving her good dispatch, [illegible] from the river to day.

[illegible] WASHINGTON —A correspondent [illegible] Washington under date of [illegible] to the Mountaineer, speaks thus [illegible] Oregonians "Postal [illegible] leaves for Oregon in a few [illegible] Simpson is here on some [illegible] connected with his office [illegible] P. THE UMATILLA DISASTER.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE TERRIBLE EXPLOSION BY ONE WHO WITNESSED IT

Mr W F Bassett one of the surveyors employed by the government to assist in the improvement of the Upper Columbia returned from Umatilla last Saturday He was near the upper Umatilla rapids when the explosion occurred on board the scow and was an eye witness of the fearful disaster in which thirteen persons were hurled in an instant into eternity and three more or less injured To Mr Bassett we are indebted for the following particulars of the calamitous explosion

WHAT HE SAW OF IT

One of Mr Bassett s duties was to measure the rocks which were situated in the channel and thus enable the men employed to remove these obstructions and to blast with the greatest advantage He also casually inspected in person the work done in behalf of the government Last Wednesday morning the day on which the explosion occurred Mr Bassett left Umatilla quite early for the purpose of measuring some of the rocks to be blasted and likewise to inspect some of the work already accomplished From Umatilla up to the upper rapids where the men were engaged is about five miles This distance was traveled by Mr Bassett on horseback He reached the rapids quite early in the forenoon and after completing his work started to return to Umatilla The scow was anchored near the middle of the river and a small boat was used in conveying Mr Bassett to and from the shore He left the scow on the morning of the fatal disaster about 8 30 o clock and was taken ashore in a skiff manned by two men—Mister and Snooks Reaching the shore in safety Mr Bassett mounted his horse and started back to Umatilla leaving Messrs Mister and Snooks at the landing putting aboard some gas pipes flour and other articles which were to be conveyed to the scow Mr Bassett had gained the upper bank and was traveling rapidly toward town When about three quarters of a mile distant from the scow he reached a high clear spot commanding a fine view of the river for a long way up and down He was riding ahead and happened to be looking at the scow as he was taking in with one sweep of his eye the broad expanse of river and landscape, when suddenly the air above the boat was darkened with a thick black cloud of smoke Through the smoke he could indistinctly discern what appeared to be pieces of plank shattered timber mangled portions of human bodies, being hurled to a great height The idea of an explosion flashed through his mind and Mr Bassett instantly reined in his horse and turned his face toward the scow Just as he turned the report of the explosion reached him It was louder than any clap of thunder he ever heard—stunning and deafening him for an instant Scarcely had 30 seconds elapsed before the dense cloud of smoke began slowly to float upward, leaving a clear space between its lower edge and the surface of the water This enabled him to see the fragments of the wreck which, by that time, began to rain down for a considerable time around where the scow had been moored. Comprehending the fearful situation of affairs, and knowing that assistance would be required to save those who were wounded Mr Bassett turned his horse a head towards the point where he had just left Mister and Snooks with the skiff It seems that these men had nearly completed loading the skiff and were about to push off for the scow when the explosion occurred They immediately threw out what was in the skiff and started for the scene of the disaster rowing with might and main Before Bassett had proceeded far he saw the skiff making for the wreck and knowing it would be useless for him to go any further, stopped By this time the smoke had all cleared away and a portion of the hull of the scow could be seen floating down on the current and also large quantities of the debris from the wreck For some moments no sign of human life was visible and Bassett concluded that every soul aboard the scow had met its fate But while he was looking eagerly in the direction of the scene he observed one man struggling in the water and immediately after saw him climb up on the wreck Just then he saw another man clamber on to the wreck, and an instant later a third whom the two others assisted up

Meantime, Mister and Snooks were urging their boat forward toward the wreck to render all the assistance in their power At the moment the explosion occurred the scow broke from her mooring and was borne down rapidly by the powerful current About eight minutes after the explosion and while the skiff was making for the wreck the blast which had been placed under water, went off Up to that time Bassett had been under the impression that the explosion had occurred from the fact that the scow had by some unavoidable circumstance got over the place where the water blast was lowered and that when it went off the boat was blown up But when he saw the water blast he knew that the giant powder which was kept on board the scow had exploded from some cause

SITUATION OF AFFAIRS

The scow on which the explosion occurred was 62 feet long and 20 wide. About the center of the boat a cabin, probably 20 feet long had been constructed The cabin extended the full width of the scow and constituted the eating and sleeping apartment of the men The giant powder used in making the blasts also the percussion caps fuse, etc., were stored for safe keeping in the cabin. Over the stern of the boat, a platform was built, extending 12 or 15 feet out over the water On this platform the men stood in working the drills and when preparing and lowering the blast Three strong hawsers were attached to the bow of the boat One hawser extended directly forward of the bow and was firmly anchored some distance higher up the stream Two other strong ropes were attached to the bow on each side and fastened out some distance each way These ropes were for the purpose of holding the scow steady against the swift current and preventing it from shifting from side to side, and likewise to enable the men to draw the boat up and down as occasion rendered it necessary When the rock had been perforated with the drills at a certain point, the blast prepared lowered and the fuse ignited, the scow was always drawn some distance up stream—sufficiently far to be out of danger s reach—until the charge exploded This was always done by means of a capstan around which the central hawser was wound After the blast went off the scow would be lowered again to the same place and operations resumed From the time the fuse was ignited until the explosion was usually from five to ten minutes, which afforded ample time to get the boat out of the way

NINETEEN MEN

Were employed about the boat but at the time of the explosion Mister and Snooks were ashore leaving 17 men aboard Of that number only four have escaped—McGinnis Finneron, Russell and Gray Beyond the possibility of a reasonable doubt thirteen unfortunate human beings were hurled into eternity without a moment s warning McGinnis states that the water blast had been lowered the fuse ignited and a number of the men were at the capstan heaving ahead, when the fatal occurrence transpired Mike Connolly who was the foreman of the men on the scow had just entered the cabin McGinnis says he remembers to have seen him standing in the door of the cabin giving some orders to the men who were working at the capstan Suddenly he saw Connolly going up into the air and cannot recollect anything more until he found himself struggling in the water McGinnis Russell Gray and Finneron were all standing on the platform at the rear of the scow at the time How far into the air they were blown is not known but McGinnis states that a sufficient time elapsed in making the aerial flight to enable the scow to float its full length The instant the explosion took place the boat was torn loose from the hawsers and was carried down on the current

The persons mentioned started on their upward tour from the stern and when they struck the water the bow of the boat was only a few yards below McGinnis was the first person whom Bassett saw clamber up on the wreck Gray was picked up by the men in the skiff clinging to a fragment of the wreck and was thus saved He was very badly injured and his recovery is extremely doubtful One arm is broken a portion of the heel blown away gashes inflicted on the back of his neck and cheek by flying fragments of the wreck and other portions of his body bruised The other three men are more or less bruised, but their injuries are not considered serious Soon after the explosion the men were taken from the wreck and conveyed ashore.

AT UMATILLA

Mr Bassett finding he could be of no service, concluded it would be best for him to go to Umatilla and inform them there of the disaster The wrecked hull soon drifted down over the middle rapids and Bassett, supposing there might be some of the helpless victims still clinging to it, thought it would be a wise plan to hurry down to Umatilla and get a number of boats out to render what assistance was possible He accordingly galloped toward the town anxious to get there before the wreck could float down Mr Stone one of the contractors Mr Tabor the government employe and Capt Coe were all stopping at the hotel in Umatilla when the explosion took place The report was very loud, and the violent concussion shook every building in the place These men knew that some accident had happened and started for the rapids without delay They were met by Mr Bassett about a mile above town who told them what had happened They continued on and Bassett came to Umatilla and got several boats to look for victims Soon after the wrecked hull floated down and also large quantities of debris On looking in the hull only the body of McCabe was found He was the cook on board the scow His body was horribly mangled An effort was made to draw the wreck to the shore but the current was so strong that it was unsuccessful and had to be abandoned The force of the explosion

WAS TERRIFIC

About 75 pounds of the explosive compound was on board the scow The cabin was literally blown into atoms Scarcely a fragment of it could be found Most of the unfortunate men on board must have been torn into hundreds of pieces Some idea of the terrible force may be had when it is stated that not even the beds blankets clothing and other light articles could be found Not even fragments of the victims hats could be discovered These articles are all light and would undoubtedly have floated A small piece of a blanket was discovered after the explosion but it was riddled into shreds by the concussion One of the men who escaped says he saw a number of the heavy drills going up through the air These and other heavy articles must have struck the men in their ascent and torn them frightfully There was about 100 pounds of giant powder stored on the shore opposite where the scow was moored and the wonder is that the concussion did not cause that quantity to explode

AN INQUEST

Was held over the body of McCabe Thursday and an investigation made of the disaster During the examination it was clearly shown that the contractors were in no manner responsible for the explosion that every possible precaution had been observed to prevent a disaster Mr Hathaway who is among the victims had charge of the powder—making the cartridges preparing the blasts etc He has had much experience in handling the explosive compound and always exercised every caution to avoid an explosion He was in the act of placing a quantity of the powder back in the cabin after preparing the water blast when the explosion occurred Just how the frightful casualty happened will never be known to the satisfaction of the public

The shock and report was felt and heard for a long distance in all directions The report was distinctly heard above Wallula—a distance of 25 miles The total loss to the contractors in the way of scow tools appliances loss of time and etc will be in the vicinity of $3 000 Work has necessarily been suspended owing to the disaster An effort will be made to obtain an extension of time in which to complete the work We are unable at present to state when operations will be resumed

CENTRAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The following is an address to the people of the Northwest coast by the Central Executive Committee in relation to the grand celebration of the 100th anniversary of our nation s independence in Portland This committee was appointed several weeks ago at a general meeting of all the committees held at the Council chamber Last Friday evening the Central Executive Committee held a meeting at which the following address was prepared

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE NORTHWEST

Throughout the broad extent of this great Republic our fellow citizens are making preparations to celebrate with becoming ceremonies the Centennial anniversary of our nation s birth One hundred years ago the comparative handful who peopled the colonies of North America struggling for freedom against the armies of the most powerful nation of the earth published to the world their Declaration of Independence and through danger toil and self sacrifice achieved their freedom and our people took rank among the nations of the earth Since then a century has rolled by—a century of unprecedented progress for us as a people in commerce population science wealth arts—in all that contributes to the essential growth of a prosperous nation The great section of country which in the early days of the Republic was a vast wilderness has been made fruitful under the hand of the husbandman is the busy mart of commerce and manufacture, and is thronged with vast numbers who give allegiance to our common country The white sails of our commerce are filled by the breezes of every clime our flag is borne upon sea and commands respect from all nations of the earth All this has been the work of the hundred years just completing their course and the history of nations offers no parallel to such advancement With hearts truly grateful to the beneficent Providence which has thus blessed and prospered us our citizens cherishing the memory of those who won for us the privileges of a free people, and desirous of suitably commemorating the day which forms so marked an epoch in our history—are making extensive preparations all over the land for the proper celebration of the approaching Fourth of July We who have made our homes on this far Northwestern coast claim in common with our fellow countrymen this Birthright of Freedom and to have equal share in the traditions and glories of our native land and being so far distant from the great center where the masses of our people will congregate should testify our patriotism by gathering at some convenient place and uniting in the general rejoicing

The citizens of Portland recognizing the fact that our State since its inception has kept pace with the general advancement and realizing the foremost position our city holds on this northern coast deem it just and proper that they should take the initiative in this matter and have accordingly made full arrangements for ceremonies fitting the occasion

It is proposed to continue the celebration in our city four days viz the 4th 5th 6th and 7th of July for each of which days a distinct programme will be arranged Every effort will be put forth to make this a marked era in our history and one which will tend to strengthen and perpetuate the patriotism that has always characterized our people

To this celebration the Centennial executive committee in the name of the citizens of Portland, CORDIALLY INVITE THE PEOPLE

The committee we understand have voted to expend the sum of $2 000 for fire works, and Prof Hughes the well known pyrotechnic manufacturer, will commence work in a few weeks The display of fire works on the occasion of the Centennial celebration will far surpass any previous exhibition of pyrotechnics ever given in the State

The general programme is published and all details of the coming celebration will be completed and made public about the 1st of May

W L ADAMS M D A M I I D corner of First and Salmon streets is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price by medicated electric lightning cream baths and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice mixed with a little common sense His treatment is in the main entirely original and works almost miracles as his numerous patients will attest A lady always in the office to assist in treating women

The great skating match on Wednesday evening has been announced Admission 25 cents

Dr Wightman will be in Portland the 8th 9th and 10th of March at the St Charles Hotel Persons desiring the Wightman Process will have one more opportunity then to get rid of their most troublesome complaint —Hemorrhoid or Piles Ulceration of Rectum and Fistula in Ano After the 11th I shall be at Salem Chemeketa Hotel

CAPITAL NOTES.

A number of the University students left for their various homes Saturday morning

Recorder Hyde has commenced taking the census of the city He ought to be a sensible fellow at its completion

Miss Clara Downer was awarded the first prize for the best penmanship at Prof Sellwood s select school in this city

A new real estate and insurance agency has recently been established in this city under the firm name of Reed & Crawford

The citizens of Eugene were entertained Saturday evening by a lecture before the Association by H H Gilfrey of this city, on the subject of the Tombs of Dead Cities

The citizens on Howell Prairie are anxious for some capitalist to erect a sawmill on Pudding river near the new bridge on the Brooks road The investment promises to be a paying one

Young McAllister of Howell Prairie, allowed his nasal organ to come in contact with the butt end of a four year old ram a few days since Said organ disappeared in his head and the ram still lives The young man will probably be more or less disfigured

The entertainment given at the University chapel last evening by the Alki and Athenaeum societies was attended by a very large audience many of whom were unable to obtain seats The exercises throughout were of marked interest, each participant endeavoring to sustain creditably his or her part and so well did they succeed it seems useless to particularize The entertainment throughout was one of the best ever given in the chapel and received a patronage worthy of its excellence

Chamber of Commerce—Court of Arbitration.

The Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting yesterday to consider the bill drawn up by its trustees, entitled an act to establish a Court of Arbitration of the Chamber of Commerce. The bill as read gives the designation of the tribunal makes the officers an official arbitrator and clerk and provides that the arbitrator be selected by the Chamber of Commerce, but must be approved by the Governor, and to hold office during good behavior but may be removed by a two third vote of the trustees of the chamber The bill vests the appointment of clerk in the chamber, and provides that the court shall have cognizance in the interpretation of mercantile or commercial contracts, written or oral, or any controversy in commercial or mercantile subjects, where the amount does not exceed $10,000 on voluntary submission by the parties interested The president was directed to take steps to have the bill passed by the legislature

Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4—Henry Beckbausen committed suicide to day at his lodgings on the corner of Powell and Post streets, by taking morphine He was a native of Germany, 25 years of age and unmarried He left a note assigning poverty as the sole cause of the act. The coroner's jury found a verdict in accordance with the above facts

Snow on the Mountains.

Eastern wires are still down and but little prospect of any overland news to-night. The railroad in the mountains is badly blocked and the trains stopped

Heavy Snow Storm in the Mountains.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4—A dispatch from Truckee says a heavy snow storm began Thursday morning and continued until this afternoon. The snow is 12 feet deep on a level. On Thursday night a snow slide at Yuba Pass crushed the snowshed for a 150 yards. The west bound freight train ran into the wreck, ditching the train. While clearing away the wreck, another slide occurred half a mile behind the train, carrying away 150 feet of the shed and making it impossible to reach the train with assistance. Slides in the meantime are occurring in all directions The men refused to endanger their lives by working in the sheds A slide near Summit and another at Strong's canyon, carried away several hundred feet of sheds This morning work was commenced at both ends of the blockade, and the road is now clear. The Eastern bound passenger trains of the 1st and 2d inst from San Francisco have passed on the Western bound trains, due at Truckee on the 2d and 3d inst., will start this morning, and will probably pass Summit without trouble. The freight trains are all abandoned, and it will take several days to get things straight The passengers were well cared for and made the best of the situation

Bilged and Abandoned.

The ship Carrier Dove, from Liverpool for Tybee and Philadelphia, to load for San Francisco, went ashore on the 3d inst. on Stonehouse breakers, Tybee and was abandoned.

The Spalding Courtmartial.

VALLEJO, March 2—Upon the assembling of the Spalding courtmartial to day, Medical Director James Suddards appeared, and reported the receipt of an order to join the court to fill the vacancy made by Fitzhugh's withdrawal The members having taken their places, and the accused being present, the order of Secretary Robeson convening the court was read. The accused was asked if he had objections to any member, and said he had not. The members were then sworn in by the judge advocate. The accused said he did not want any delay, and named Lattimer as his counsel The reading of the charges and specifications being next in order, the court room was cleared of all persons not members, including the clerk and accused,

Charges against Spalding.

VALLEJO, March 3.—The charge embraces many specifications. It charges the accused with denying his own signature to letters produced before the court of inquiry, also, that he produced papers at different times at the Bank of British Columbia, stating that sums varying from $13,000 and upward were due to Ventagnie, Higgins, Powell and others, when such sums were not due, that the same false statements were made that sums were due to J. N. Hancom, whereas no such sums were due He is charged with purchasing, coal, lumber and bran at exorbitant rates, certifying that they were bought at marketable prices; also, appropriating to his own use the moneys arising from the sale of material belonging to the government. There are also numerous charges of having certified to a savings and loan society that there were sums due to parties when nothing was due them, also, permitting Finney to practice fraud upon the government. There are eight charges in all, which include 380 specifications.

Spalding Court-Martial.

In the Spalding court-martial at Vallejo today, the only witness examined was W R. Cox, Jr., clerk to the commandant at Mare Island. He was first questioned concerning the transactions connected with the purchase of supplies for the navy yard by Spalding, and produced a number of letters, vouchers, etc, showing that Spalding had in some instances contracted for supplies far in excess of market rates, and had objected to any interference by other officers with his transactions A letter from the Swiss American bank to the Commandant was next offered in evidence, stating that the bank had loaned to Farwell & Co ten thousand dollars in gold, taking as security a certificate of indebtedness of the United States to said firm, issued by Spalding for $13,375, that the bank had also loaned in addition, at three different times to Montagnie, sums of $10,000 each, and as security held certificates of dates and amounts as follows April 14th, $14 470, July 24th 14 300 August 15th, $14,646 75 The bank had inquired at the pay office when these certificates would be paid, but received no satisfactory answer. It made inquiries of the commandant to the same effect

Accused's counsel objected to the reading of the letter, because it was incomplete and especially objected to that part in which it was stated that the inquiries with regard to the certificates at the pay office elicited no satisfactory reply

The court admitted the letter as necessary to an understanding of what followed but expressly excluded it as evidence of the facts alleged therein

It is stated that the court will probably meet in San Francisco on Tuesday next The hours of session have been fixed at from 11 A M to 3 P M

POND'S EXTRACT

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled

CHILDREN. No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discoloration and heals rapidly

FEMALE WEAKNESSES. It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fullness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES—blind or bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use

VARICOSE VEINS. It is the only sure cure

KIDNEY DISEASES. It has no equal for permanent cure

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere

TOOTHACHE, Earache, Neuralgia and Rheumatism are all alike relieved, and often permanently cured

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians many of whom order it for use in their own practice In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Musquitoes, etc, Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed all manner of skin diseases

TOILET USE. Removes Soreness, Roughness and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions and Pimples. It revives, invigorates and refreshes while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the leading Livery Stables Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness Scratches Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleedings, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, &c. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every Farm yard as well as in every Farm house Let it be tried once, and you will never be without it

CAUTION! Pond's Extract has been imitated The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel This is the only article used by Physicians and in the hospitals of this country and Europe
